POETRY.

MY OWN FIRESIDE.

Let others seek for empty joys,
At ball, or concert, rout, or play;
Wealth, far from fashion's idle noise,
Her gilded domes, and trappings gay,
I while the wintry eve away
"Twixt book and lute, the hours divide;
And marvel how I ever could stray
From those—my own Fireside!

My own Fireside! These simple words
Can fill the sweetest dreams more;
A sudden feeling's tenderest chords,
And fill with tears of joy my eyes!
What is there to my cold heart can prize,
That does not in thy sphere abide,
Haunt of my home-bred sympathies,
My own—my own Fireside!

A gentle form is near me now,
A small white hand is clasped in mine,
I gaze upon her placid brow,
And ask what joys can equal these!
A babe, whose beauty's half divine,
In sleep his mother's eyes doth hide;
Where may love seek a fairer shrine,
Than that—my own Fireside.

What care I for the million roar
Of whirls without, that ravage earth;
It doth but fill me pitie the more
The shelter of thy hallowed hearth—
To thoughts of quiet bliss give birth;
Then let the whirlwind tempest chide,
It cannot check the blameless mirth
That gleams my own Fireside!

My refuge ever from the storm
Of this world's passion, strife and care!
Though thunder clouds the sky deform,
Their fury cannot reach me there.
There all is cheerfull, calm and fair,
Wrath, Malice, Envy, Strife, or Pride,
Hath never made its hatred lair,
By thee—my own Fireside!

Thy precincts are a charming ring,
Where no harsh feeling dares intrude;
Where love's sensations have their play;
Where even grief is half subdued:
A Power, the balsam, bows to bend.
Then, let the pampered fool decide,
I'll pay my debt of gratitude
To thee—my own Fireside!

Shrine of my home's hallowed deities!
Pain sense of my home's unsullied joys!
To thee my fondest spirit flies,
When fortune frowns, or cares an eye:
There is the bliss that never cloys;
The smile whose truth has oft been tried;
What, then, are the world's fitful toys
To thee—my own Fireside!

Oh, may the passings, loud and sweet,
That hold my thoughts in all of thee,
Thus ever guide my wandering feet
To thy heart-soothing sanctuary!
Whate'er my future years may be;
Let joy or grief my fate betide,
But still an Eden bright to me,
My own—my own Fireside!

A Tale of the Harem.

AN Italian of the name of Benetto, a Florentine singing-master, was on his passage to England, when the vessel in which he sailed was mastered by the superior force of a Turkish galley. Poor Benetto, instead of making his fortune in England, was put in chains on board a Turkish ship, purchased by an agent of the Sultan of Constantinople, and placed to work as an assistant in the garden of the seraglio. Many of his companions fared much worse, exchanging one bad master after another, until their condition was most deplorable indeed. Benetto on the contrary led an easy life enough, having only to cultivate the flowers and shrubs for the gratification of the ladies of the harem, and as he had left no mistress in a distant country to mourn for, his only sighs were for liberty, and as this apparent unattainable, he at length dog and watered his plants very contentedly; oftentimes beguiling himself by singing in a truly melodious voice, the airs he had taught to turn to a very different account. Now it happened that these sweet strains found their way through the windows of the harem, and the Sultanas soon discovered that they proceeded from no nightingal, though equalling in beauty the song of that bird. One of the fair prisoners was singularly affected by the bravura, though the jealously guarded ladies. Alas! they reminded her of Italy, the land of her birth, and she could not refrain from replying to them, in a canzonet so exquisitely plaintive, that the listeners, though unaware of the meaning of the strain, were melted into tears. Benetto, hearing this unexpected answer to his strains, drew near to the window, and recognized the song as one of the composition of his beloved Italy, and his heart forthwith began to ache more seriously than it had ever done since he had been a captive. Here was one person, at any rate, who could take part in a duet with him—that was one consolation; but how should he contrive to meet and arrange the concert? The Sultan spared him all trouble, for chancing to have overheard the exquisite singing of Benetto, (though not the reply,) he had a mind to enjoy it nearer, and sent a slave to fetch Benetto into an anti-chamber. This was separated from the apartment of the ladies by a silken curtain, and he was desired to sing one of his best songs. The Sultan, who happened to have a grate taste for music, was delighted with the performance, and spoke of it in high terms to the fair Angelona, who, as she was the last arrival, was just then the reigning favorite. She joined in the opinion, and said she thought if his majesty would allow her to hear the song twice or thrice, she could manage to learn it for his gratification. The Sultan directed Benetto to do this, and as the fair Angelona was an improvisatore, she changed the words for some expression of her desire to change the dullness of the harem for the fair Florence of her youth. Benetto replied with equal readiness, begging her not to despond, that she should one day by his help see the city of her desires. The Sultan, not understanding Italian, was on much pleased with the performance that he conferred a purse of gold on the gardener, and commanded his attendance on the following night. The next day, Benetto seriously complained to the superintendent of the royal pleasure-grounds, that a particular fatree was of an obnoxious kind, causing the shrubs to wither under its shade.

"It is," said he, "without question the deadly upas. If any of the ladies of the Harem should by chance fall asleep under its shade, I doubt not it would be as fatal as the tree of knowledge was to their grandmother."

The superintendent remarked, "that it had grown three time out of mind without causing injury; but, Benetto, if it is so pleases thee to trouble thyself, cut it down."

So Benetto did this as fast as he conveniently could, and lopping of the leafy branches he left stump here and there, and then threw it carelessly in the corner of the garden. That evening, Benetto again attended on his royal master, and began the air of the night preceding, to which the fair Angelona again responded.

"I have been thinking," said the Sultan, suddenly, "that I will have a story sir."

Benetto hastened to comply, and, chanting a lively canzonet, informed the lady that though there were no rop ladders to be had, still a pretty tree, with many branches, might be laid against a high wall, and if placed against a lady's prison, a vision of an angel might descend. The lady responds in the same canzonet, expressing her delight, and feeling already like a bird with wings."

The Sultan was so delighted with this merry duet, that he made them repeat it many times. At last as they were about to commence a fourth time, having contrived to give to each other many additional scraps of information, he exclaimed "Stop!" He turned his fare with such an awful frown on the lady, that she also stopped short in the middle of the first note.

"I understand nothing of this language," said he, "but I perceive that each time you use different words. Madam, you must not take it ill; but the next evening the interpreter shall partake with me the delight of hearing you. The lady and Benetto both suspected from this sudden change that the Sultan entertained some mistrust of them, and the next song, therefore, was performed with more quavers than originally belonged to the composition. Benetto was dismissed without any gold, the Sultan intending secretly on the morrow, to reward him with two hundred strokes of the bastinado. Benetto, however, resolved to take advantage of the cloudy night, and soon succeeded in moving his tree ladder to the apartment of Angelona. The eagerly mounted, and, peeping in, what was his horror on seeing lovely woman, making most earnest supplications with her raised hands (to two or three cruel Moors, who were about to place her in an enormous sack, the mouth of which was gaping to receive her. Her mouth was gagged, so that no cries could be uttered. The terrified Benetto was so horror-struck that he scarcely knew how he descended his frail ladder. With a heavy heart he now placed his means of escape against the wall of the garden, near the water, gained the top, and with the assistance of a long-handled hoe, let himself drop on the ground on the opposite side, and made for the landing-place, half considering whether he ought not in etiquette to drown himself, and thus share the fate of the unfortunate lady. Whilst he was thus wandering and reflecting, the three black slaves having fled up the lady in the sack, repaired with their burden, as they were directed, to a secluded part of the Bosphorus, in order to place her in her last bath with the greater privacy. Now it happened that there was a ship of war lying off at anchor, having brought out an ambassador to the Sublime Porte, and some of the sailors and junior officers desiring a frolic, had put off and landed about the same spot. These jovial fellows encountering the black slaves, insisted upon knowing what they had in the sack, and the fair Angelona, though unable to cry out, managed to move about so much, that the sailors observed the motion, and soon, with great indignation, discovered the nature of its contents. The cowardly blacks, not waiting for the bullets of a justly incensed company of tars, took to their heels and were out of sight in an instant. The lady was speedily released in limbs as well as tongue, and failed not to use the latter most energetically in thanking her deliverers. They readily had constituted themselves near the landing-place until the night was a little further advanced, her thoughts still resting on the unfortunate lady and her oriental mode of death; the moon, however, suddenly appearing, by caught sight of the English vessel, and though scarcely believing his eyes, stripped off his jacket and turban, and plunging into the water, was not long in joining the ship. It would not be easy to describe the transport he felt when he came on board and discovered Angelona. Suffice it to say, that the ship sailing sail immediately for England, during the passage the liberated renegades agreed to perform a matrimonial duet for life and a very harmonious one it was. Benetto, by his skill in

An Unlucky Present.

It is related in the "Ingoldsby Legends" that an old gentleman, a merchant in Brush Lane, London, had an only daughter, possessed of the highest attractions moral personal, and pecuniary. She was engaged and devotedly attached to a young man in her own rank of life, and in every respect worthy of her choice. All preliminaries were arranged, and the marriage, after two or three postponements, was fixed, positively for the last time of marrying," to take place on Tuesday, April 15, 18—.

On the preceding Monday, the bridegroom elect (who was to have received £10,000 down on the wedding day, and the further sum of £30,000 on his father-in law's dying—as there was hope he soon would)—had a little jealous squabbling with his intended at an evening party the "stiff" arose in consequence of his paying more attention than she thought justifiable to a young lady with sparkling eyes and inimitable ringlets. The gentleman retorted, and spoke slightingly of a certain cousin, whose waistcoat was the admiration of the assembly, and which, it was hinted darkly, had been embroidered by the fair hand of the heiress in question. He added, in conclusion, that it would be time enough for him to be schooled when they were married; that—reader pardon the unavoidable expression—she was "putting on the breeches a little too soon."

After supper both lovers had become more cool; iced champagne and cold chicken had done their work, and leave was taken by the bridegroom in posse, in kindly and affectionate if not in such enthusiastic terms as had previously terminated their meetings.

On the next morning, the swain thought with some remorse on the angry feelings he had exhibited, and the cutting sarcasm with which he had given it vent; and as a part of the amende honorable, packed up with great care a magnificent satin dress which he had bespoken for his beloved, and which had been sent home to him in the interval and transmitted it to the lady, with a note to the following effect:

"Dearest—I have been unable to close my eyes all night, in consequence of thinking on my foolish misunderstanding last evening. Pray, pardon me; and, in token of your forgiveness, deign to accept the accompanying dress, and wear it for the sake of your ever affectionate

Having written the note he gave it to his shopman to deliver with the parcel; but as a pair of his nether garments happened at the time to stand in need of repairing, he availed himself of the opportunity offered by his servant having to pass the tailor's shop, in his way to Bashf.ane, and desired him to leave them, packed in another parcel, on his road.

The reader foresees the inevitable contretemps. Yes, the man made the fatal blunder—consigned the satin robes to Mr. Snip, and left the note together with the dilapidated habiliments at the residence of the lady. Her indignation was neither to be described nor; so exasperated was she at what she considered a determined and deliberate affront, that when her admirer called she ordered the door to be closed in his face, refused to listen to any explanation, and resolutely broke off the match. Before many weeks had elapsed, means were found to make her acquainted with the history of the objectionable present; but she nevertheless adhered firmly to her resolve, deeply lamenting the misadventure, but determined not to let the fruition of the ridicule rest upon her.

☞ "Among the passengers who arrived here by the steamship Union on Saturday night, was M. Victor Considerant who comes to prepare for the establishment in Texas of the colony of Europeans which he has for some time had in contemplation. We believe the funds of the company of which M. Considerant is the head, already amount to about a million of dollars, and that some hundreds of French, Belgian, and German agriculturists and mechanics may be expected just as soon as the needful arrangements are made for the first establishment of the colony, which it is expected will gradually increase to some thousand. Precisely in what locality the company have bought lands we are not informed but M. Cantagral, their agent, has been in Texas for some time past for that purpose. The investment of so much capital, and the addition of many industrious and worthy people to the population of the State will be an event in her history. M. Considerant is known as the leader in Europe of that class of Socialists who adopt the system of Fourier, and we believe, proposes to introduce some associative features into the management of this colony, such, for instance, as buying all necessaries at wholesale and furnishing them to individuals at cost, providing medical attendance at the public expense, maintaining common schools, regulating amusements, and other things of that kind, but we believe it is not proposed to attempt any application of Fourier's industrial organization until a later period. M. Considerant is accompanied with the members of his family.—N. Y. Tribune.

Enchancment of Indians.—Advices from Yucatan state that on the 21st of December there were in prison at Sisal forty Indians awaiting shipment on board the Mexican steamer Jacinto, for Havana, where they where to be sold as slaves and that one hundred and fifty more were in prison at Merida, and expected to arrive at Sisal to be shiped for Cuba on board the brig Antonita. The sum received by the Mexican government for the sale of two hundred Indians was $20,000, as appears by an official order from the Secretary of Foreign Relations, in which it also appears that the protest, is that the Indians were rebellious and were captured in the war. Against this, however they have made a solemn protest, averring that they were peaceable, and took no part in the war.

From the Spirit World.—The following is reported as a true message from a certain individual now in the "Spirit World," as we have been told:

Rapper—John Jones!
Spirit of John Jones answers two raps.
R.—Are you happy!
S.—Yes, in all but one thing.
R.—What is that!
S.—I left the world without calling on the printer, as I would do.
R.—Do what?
S.—Call on the poor "Printer," and pay him them four dollars, but it is entirely too late.
R.—No, Send a message to your once fond wife to pay it for you, and then you will be happy!
S.—Yes, yes! hell for if she wishes to enjoy eternal happiness, to go at once and discharge that debt, and everlasting bliss is mine.
R.—I will do as you bid me.

Political Parsons.—The Pensylvanian says—"From all quarters of the Union we hear of parsons quitting the pulpit to dabble in the stagnant pool of politics," and adds "A political clergyman is the devil's own vinegaroon, and will, doubtless receive a proper reward from a generous Master, who, upon one occasion, attempted to give away the whole world, when not one inch of ground belongs to him?"

We will not undertake to say whether at the present time the ministry is over-crowded or the laity have failed to present their usual number of candidates for office; but since the advent of know nothingism, the fact is as palpable as it is lamentable that too many of the clergy are more inclined to consult the views of nominating conventions than the spiritual interest of their flocks.

Kind Words.—Kind words do not cost much. They never blister the tongue or lips. And we have never heard of any mental trouble arising from this quarter.

Though they do not cost much, yet they accomplish much.

They help one's good nature and good will. Soft words soften our own soul. Angry words are fuel to the flames of wrath and make it blaze the more fiercely.

Kind words make other people good natured. Cold words freeze people, and hot words scorch them, and bitter, and wrathful words make them wrathful.

There is such a rush of all other kinds of words, in our days, that it seems desirable to give kind words, and spiteful words, and silly words, and boisterous words and warlike words.

Kind words, also, produce their own image on men's souls. And a beautiful image it is! They soothe, and quiet, and comfort the heart. They shame him of his ease, morose, unkind feelings.

Contents of a Bear.—It was stated in the Salem Register that a living bear was left on board the ship Favorite wrecked near Baker's Island, when the crew abandoned her. The bear during the passage had exhibited those manifable traits of character which have become proverbial, but his instinct soon discovered that the pounding of the ship upon the rocks, which caused such a lively commotion among the ship's company, threatened danger of total destruction to himself, although a passenger and heretofore presumptuous of that distinction. He immediately began to coax and fondle the seamen, in the hope of inducing them to suffer him to join them in any mode of extricating themselves from the apalling danger; but they were forced to leave him to his uncomfortable reflections on board the wrecked ship.

When Capt. Morris, of the steamer R. B. Forbes boarded the ship late in the afternoon, bruin was disposed to be very civil, and in a wheedling way laid his paw upon his shoulder, as gently as was consistent with a cordial welcome. His docility led to his being kindly treated, and he was brought to this city by Capt. Morris.—Boston Daily Advertiser.

Fire.—On last Monday night the School House, situated on the Oswego road, about one mile from this village, was burned to the ground. The house was left in the evening as usual, after all necessary precautions had been taken to guard against such an event; circumstances however, lead to the opinion that the fire was communicated by some drunken loafers who had chosen it as a fit place for a carousal. One or two empty bottles were found near the smouldering ruins the succeeding morning, which is conclusive evidence that Captain Alcohol filled a part in the offence.

P. S. Since the above was put in type we are placed in possession of information which is sufficient to convince us that the Know Knothings were the immediate cause of the fire. It appears that a meeting of this order had been called, and this house chosen as a place of assembly. After the meeting had assembled, and general matters disposed of, it was ascertained that a son of a Foreign born citizen had aided in its construction, when it was decreed that it should fall, and it was consigned to the flames. It is also presumed that the contents of the bottles found, had been imbibed, to render them more fit for the patriotic work of burning School Houses.—Whitley Pioneer.

Never attempt to drive religion or virtue into men. If they want take the institution in the regular way, depend upon it, that it will do him no more good than to preach metaphysics to a cooking-stove, or plain clothes for a girl that goes in for the fashions.

The New York Quarrel—Oaths.—Their Power.

The debate in the New York Legislature about "Sam" has been sharp and stirring. With one or two exceptions, all know the old gentleman.—Messrs. Littlejohn, Stebbins and Leigh, are "honored friends" of his, and therefore, the Albany Register (the organ) accuses them of perjury in supporting Seward. The first named gentleman is speaker of the House, and replied to this charge as follows:

The Speaker went on to say, that something had been dropped in the course of the debate, about a combination between the temperance men engaged in a great moral reform and those who on this question sought to protect the liberty of the country. He denied the charge.—No such combination had been, or could be made.

Mr. Headly said he had heard so, and believed it.

The Speaker: Sir, this rumor is a lie. [Applause, during which a voice was heard "clear the gallery."] And, sir, something was said about party obligations—that men were bound by party oaths, under the dictation of party leaders. Sir, I know no leader; and believe a man on his floor knows a leader, unless it may be those who themselves seek to direct and dictate. [Applause.] Parties there will be as long as our institutions stand—and party obligations are the results. To promote common views and principles, men act together—and if a majority on this floor are opposed to the extension of slavery—I say not its abolition—and if that majority on this floor are opposed to the extension of slavery—I say not its abolition—and if that majority choose to place W. H. Seward again in the United States Senate, as the tried guardian of human rights—it will be from no dictation of party leaders. Where is the power—numbering its 750,000—that dictates by oaths to its adherents what they should do?—depriving them of conscience, reason and judgment? Where is the power?

Mr. Leonard—[in his seat]—You know. Have you not taken the oath?

The Speaker: Speaking of oaths, let me ask, an oath taken to murder another—is that oath to be regarded? An oath to violate a man's conscience—is that to be kept? Pile up oath upon oath, aye, until they reach high heaven—when they interfere with the dictates of my conscience, I violate the oath. No oath can come between me and my Maker. No oath can bind me to outrage my sense of right and duty, here or elsewhere. Oaths! I am—I have intended to be—a man of principle. If in an evil hour, by intrigue or management, I may have been betrayed into taking an oath in an unguarded moment, which is to dictate to me for all time to come a political course that violates my conscience—reason treats and scouts its binding obligation. I hope those who have taken these oaths will rise like men above them, and act like men—like American citizens. Talk about American—American freedom is one of slavery or freedom. It is against the encroachments of the one that we desire to erect a barrier by the election of Mr. Seward. Talk about that compared with this matter of foreign influence! The latter sinks into insignificance, in the contrast. But let us select a man to represent us in the United States Senate who has intellect and grasp enough to take all these questions, and whose question it not limited to one.

This is good. But Mr. Speaker, Littlejohn after all did not present the strongest view. The leaders of the Know Nothings are they who have broken the oath; they are the betrayers. They knew that they could place men who belong to the order in a position in which they could neither obey their dictation nor submit to their decree and they did so place them by a plot. For a perjured priesthood, they became the oath-breakers! For a coarse selfish object they sacrificed alike duty and principle! Let them stand forth, then, as the men who purged the oath of its purpose, for it was taken to resist despotism, and they wrenched it out of its place to support despotism. Expose, therefore, the "foul scamps" and "lay bare their iniquity," that the country may fix upon them its scorn and scorn.—Cleveland Leader.

Bridge across the Mississippi.—To Minnesota belongs the honor of first spanning the mighty father of Waters with a bridge—a good day, (January 25th) this great work celebrated in a magnificent style by the citizens of St. Anthony and Minneapolis, on the occasion of the opening of the bridge to the public.—Such an event certainly deserved a celebration at the hands of those who are so much benefitted by the mechanical skill displayed in the erection of the bridge. Although the Mississippi in its course between Minnesota and the Gulf, leaves the bank of nine prosperous and mighty States, yet to a Territory of the Union, almost without capital, but certainly not without energy, perseverance and mechanical skill, appertains the honor of first "bridging" his noble stream with a magnificent structure equalling in beauty, strength and durability any suspension bridge in the country.

The work consists of a wire suspension bridge of one span of 620 feet, and 17 feet width of roadway, connecting the western bank of the Mississippi river, with Nicollet island, about 100 yards above the first bridge, its waters into rapids above the falls.—The roadway of the bridge is laid with white pine plank, spiked logitudinally, and breaking joints with the floor beams. In order to diminish the vibratory motion in this platform, a truss is placed on either side, consisting of heavy pieces of timber. The roadway is supported by the cable with suspending cables, made into skeins of such length as to enter part with the curvature of the main cables—the suspenders consist each, of sixteen strands No. 10 hard drawn wire. The skeins are fastened under the beams by a small casting.

The main cables two on each side of the bridge, have the same vertical deflection; they are composed of two thousand strands No. 10 hard drawn wire. The cables are closely wrapped their entire length, with No. 15 annealed wire. All of the wire is prepared to resist corrosion, by being immersed in heated oil, at about half its boiling temperature.

The cables are supported by wooden towers, built in the usual substantial manner, the timbers of which they are constructed being held together by heavy cast caps. The masonry upon which the towers rest, is fifteen feet in height. The lower part of the towers are designed to serve as tall houses.

The anchorage for the cables is obtained by drilling through a structure of Limestone rocks 10 feet in thickness, and passing links of 1½ inch square iron through them, into cast iron plates, weighing in the aggregate some 8X tons. To the upper series of links passing through the rocks, there will be placed a bar of 3 inch round iron, and this retainer in position a second series of links, and a third series is in like manner attached to these. To these the thimbles of the cables will be connected. All of this iron is embedded in cement.—Minnesota Democrat.

☞ "World's Share Colored Folks?—Frederick Douglass delivered one of his lectures last week, in Biddeford, Me, and the morning afterwards stepped into the barber shop of a Mr. Dunkey, an Ethiopian, with a slight European alloy in his blood, who absolutely refused to shave him, as it was against the rules of the establishment to shave colored gentlemen. Fred left in a very wrathful mood.

Sentiments of Washington and Lafayette on the Know-Nothing Question.

We invite attention to the following extracts from the writings of the illustrious Washington and the gallant Lafayette. Democrats should preserve them for the perusal of their Know-Nothing friends. In an address to the Catholics, dated March, 1790, Washington says:

"As mankind become more liberal, they will be more apt to allow that all those who could at themselves as worthy members of the community are equally entitled to the protection of civil government. I hope ever to see American on only the foremost nations in examples of justice and liberality. And I presume that your fellow citizens will not forget the patriotic part which you took in the accomplishment of their revolution, and the establishment of their government—or the important assistance which they received from a nation in which the Roman Catholic faith is professed?"—Life of Washington, page 197.

"The Irish volunteers merit the warmest thanks of America for their patriotism; and I hope their countrymen, who have so long struggled for liberty, will be hospitably and cordially received here.—Washington.

"The bosom of America is open to receive not only the opulent and respectable stranger, but the oppressed and persecuted of all nations and of all religions, whom we shall welcome to a participation in all our rights and privileges.—Washington.

"The citizens of the United States of America have a right to applaud themselves for having given to mankind examples of an enlarged and liberal policy—a policy worthy of imitation. All persons alike liberty of conscience and immunity of citizenship. It is now no more that toleration is spoken of as if it were by the indulgence of one class of people that another enjoyed the exercise of their inherent natural rights; for happily the government of the United States, which gives to bigotry no sanction, to persecution no assistance, requires only that they who live under its protection should demean themselves as good citizens, in giving it on all occasions their effectual support."—Washington.

The following is an extract from a letter written by Lafayette to a gentleman in New York, after his return to France in 1826:

"The friendly expressions of regard for my health and happiness conveyed in your kind letter to me of the 12th ult., I beg you to be assured are grateful to my feelings, and I shall cherish the recollection of the many services and kindnesses toward me, both on the part of yourself and lady while I was your guest in America, as among the most pleasing reminiscences connected with my late visit to the United States. * * * * I cannot but admire your noble sentiments of devotion and attachment to your country and its institutions. But I must be permitted to assure you that the fears which, in your patriotic zeal, you seem to entertain, that it ever the liberty of the United States is destroyed it will be by Romish priests, are certainly without any shadow of foundation whatever. An intimate acquaintance of more than half a century with the prominent and influential priests and members of that Church, both in Europe and America, warrants me in assuring you that you need entertain no apprehensions of danger to your republican institutions from that quarter."

Women's rights in New Hampshire.—A Miss Caroline S. Freeman, of Manchester, New Hampshire, avows that she has certain inalienable rights, notwithstanding she was not born "to buy husband, and among others the right to seek as well as accept a husband. She concludes her declaration of independence as follows:

Public Lecture.—George B. Ferger, of Toledo, Ohio, will deliver the 5th of the series of Lectures, before the Young Men's Literary Association of this city, on Thursday evening next, March 1st. Subject "Mexico."

Hon. Horace Mann's Lecture.—The lecture of this distinguished scholar, last Tuesday evening, was listened to by a large and highly respectable audience. The subject—"Thoughts for Young Men"—was handled with great skill. Much excellent advice was given to the young men in singularly eloquent and beautiful language. It was truly an admirable lecture, and we hope may be productive of much good. His advice, if properly attended to, will yield rich fruit, and may lead many of his hearers to adopt such a course at the outset of life, and will lead to permanent happiness and prosperity.

We are informed by the Corresponding Sec. of the Young Men's Literary Association that an effort is making to induce the learned gentleman to favor us with another lecture, and that it is expected he will comply. The lecture will probable be of the same class as the last one, but devoted more especially to the Ladies.

Where is this Fund?—Some eight or nine days ago we mailed $5.00 to the publisher of the Cincinnati Enquirer, with an order to send us the Daily Enquirer. We ought in due course of mail to have received it by Tuesday, but it has not yet come to hand. Another letter we mailed to Cincinnati at the same time remains unanswered. What is amiss? Has the mail been robbed, or has it been mis-sent or delayed on the road?

☞ There is no later news from Europe this week.

Veto of the French Spoliation Bill.—The bill recently passed by Congress for the payment of claims arising from damages done to American commerce, has been vetoed by the President, and the vote sustained by a vote of 113 to 86 in the House. These claims have been pressed year after year by a set of claim agents and speculators at the capitol—the amount demanded annually increasing until it had swelled to several millions. Had there been any justice in the claim it would doubtless have been allowed years ago. The President is entitled to the gratitude of the nation for his firmness in resisting this attempt to bleed the public treasury of several millions of dollars.

The chief ground for the claim is the assumed fact that the United States government, in the treaty of 1800, agreed to absolve France from the demand as an offset for the latter's relinquishment of certain privileges they contended for under the treaty of 1788. This the President shows, by reference to the treaties of 1800 and 1803 and subsequent diplomatic actions, is not the case. The claims were never allowed by France, nor did the United States ever attempt to discharge themselves from any obligations to that country at the expense or with the property of any of her citizens. The claims allowed by France were all paid by the United States out of the amount to be paid for the purchase of Louisiana, but the claims now contended for were never recognized by France, nor did the United States ever assume their payment, or in any manner render themselves liable for their discharge. The fact that the allowance of the claims was uniformly resisted by all the early Congresses and administrations, the members of which were better acquainted with the true facts than any can be at this time, is also dwelt upon with much force by the President, and is urged as a strong objection to their being now recognized.

The reasons given by the President are conclusive against the validity of the claims, and fully justify him in vetoing the bill. He may be condemned and vilified by interested parties naturally feeling disappointed in their expectations, and who have so long and so perseveringly urged these claims, as to have in some cases, perhaps, almost convinced themselves of their justice; but his course will meet the approbation and support of his fellow-citizens generally. He has faithfully discharged his duty, and acted conscientiously and patriotically in refusing his signature to a bill he deemed unjust and improper.

Probable Indian War in Iowa.—Intelligence has been received in Washington that a large body of Sioux Indians are now in north-western Iowa. They threaten to take possession of the country between Big and Little Sioux Rivers, and that they intend to occupy the same, and plant corn there during the coming season, notwithstanding that portion of the State was long since purchased by the United States, and is now occupied by white settlers. It will be recollected that the Black Hawk war originated under a precisely similar state of affairs, and experience in our intercourse with the Indian tribes of the Northwest teaches the importance of providing means for the immediate suppression of these difficulties.

Danger is also apprehended from the Omahas and Otlies, several of whom are now on the east side of the Missouri. Difficulties have already occurred between the Indians and settlers, and great alarm is experienced in the sparsely settled districts, as no adequate protection can be afforded against the savage foe.

The hostile attitude of these Indians, coupled with the ravages of the savages on the plains and on the frontiers of Oregon and California, give reason to suspect that an extensive combination has been formed among the various tribes of Western Indians, and that a bloody and protracted Indian war may be looked for in these regions. It becomes the duty of Congress and the administration to take immediate measures for the protection of the frontiers and to give the Indians such a lesson as may put an effectual stop to further outrages.

MINISTER TO SPAIN.—Mr. Breckenridge having declined the station of minister to Spain Hon. AUGUSTUS C. DODGE of Iowa has been appointed by the President, and unanimously confirmed by the Senate.

THE HALLELUJAH.—C. L. Hill has just received a new supply of this popular collection of Sacred Music. The Hallelujah is compiled and prepared by the celebrated LOWELL MASON, and contains most of his sacred music. It is justly esteemed one of the best singing books extant, and is rapidly supersceding all others in the market.

NO ELECTION OF SENATOR.—Our Senate, on Thursday, by a vote of 26 to 21, indefinitely postponed the resolution to go into an election of U. S. Senator. The probability now is there will be no election this session.

We heartily approve the action of the democratic majority in the Senate on this question. They have acted independently, fearlessly, and properly—and their course will be appreciated by their constituents. No Senator could have been elected this session who would fairly have represented our state. By a combination of factions, the introduction of side issues, and other temporary matters, the Anti-nativists have succeeded in obtaining an accidental majority in the Legislature, and would have elected one of their own number to sort to the Senate, if an election had been held. We contend that the state is democratic, and the next election will show this to be the fact. It would therefore be an outrage to have a whig or fusion Senator foisted upon us, to represent the state for the next six years. The Senate has acted wisely and nobly in postponing the election.

MURDER TRIAL.—The trial of Benjamin Madden, Samuel Rourine, and George Kesler, for the murder and robbery of Mr. John Dreihars in our city, on the night of the 3d January last, has occupied the attention of our Circuit Court the whole of this week, and is still progressing. A large number of witnesses have already been examined, and the confessions made by the accused admitted as evidence. The trial will not probably be concluded before Monday or Tuesday next.

As the case is now pending we do not think it proper to enter into details at present. The prosecution is ably conducted by Messrs Wilson, prosecuting attorney, assisted by Mr. Jacoby, and the defence by Messrs Worden and Case, who faithfully discharge their duty to their unhappy clients. Whatever the result of the trial may be, the public may rely that strict justice will be done in the case, so far as the legal gentlemen named are concerned.

☞ The whole state revenue of Pennsylvania, exclusive of tolls on the public works, last year, was three millions of dollars. Of this sum Philadelphia paid the enormous amount of one million and a third, or nearly 41 per cent.

Quite a thriving Village.—From the late British census we learn Hamilton contained in 1851 a population of 2,262,296, and the number is rapidly increasing. It covers 78,029 acres, or about 122 sections, nearly 34 townships, equal to 11 miles square.

MOSS, ARRIVE, the world renowned Magician, is astonishing our citizens with his marvellous feats of legerdemain. Some of his tricks are truly inexplicable, and much like as an adept in his art. One especially caused considerable merriment. He borrowed a hat from an old citizen, well known in 1840 for his ardent attachment to log cabins, hard cider, and coon skins. Before returning the hat, he threw from it a miscellaneous assortment of articles, and finally the veritable skin of "that same old coon." Many of his other tricks were equally strange and amusing.

He also exhibits some beautiful Kaleidoscopic Views and Phantasmagoric Phantoms.

He exhibits again this evening, commencing at half past seven. We advise all who wish a good evening's amusement to attend.

Life and Beauties of Fanny Fern.—Published by H. Long & Brother, 121 Nassau Street, New York. Price One Dollar.

We are indebted to the publisher for a copy of this spicy and attractive work, containing some sketches of the famous Fanny's real history, character, and habits, and several of her earliest productions. Fanny Fern has obtained great celebrity as a writer. There is a freshness and originality in her style that is pleasing to all classes, and her last work, Ruth Hall, is now having a run almost unprecedented in the annals of book-making. It is understood to be her own autobiography, and some of the characters she shows up in such unsparing terms are said to be her own relatives. The book before us gives the other side of the picture, and while according to Fanny all the praise she is entitled to as a writer, does not represent her as quite so much of an injured angel as she has made of Ruth, nor her relatives as such unfeeling and mercenary characters as those who figure in the autobiography. The truth probably lies between the two, and the readers of Fanny Fern, if they wish to form a correct estimate of her true character and a certain the facts of her trials and vicissitudes, should by all means read this book.

Health of Judge Mason.—It gives us great pleasure to announce, on what appears to be good authority, the complete convalescence of Judge Mason. The Paris correspondent of the Philadelphia North American writes:

"I have been requested to mention, for the satisfaction of his numerous friends in your city, that your respected representative, Mr. Mason, the American minister in Paris, has completely recovered from his late severe indisposition. A very slight impediment to the free action of his left arm is now all that remains of the effect of the attack. His mental faculties have long since entirely recovered their usual tone and vigor, or were rather indeed never affected. A friend who has just conversed with Mr. Mason for several hours found him restored to all his wonted vivacity and intelligence."

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 14.

Connecticut Democratic State Convention.—The Democratic State Convention for the nomination of State officers was held to-day. Hon B. L. Ingersoll was elected president. The ticket of last year was renominated, with the exception of Julius Hotchkiss, of Waterbury, who was dropped for comptroller, and Thomas Cowles, of Farmington, nominated instead. Hon Samuel Ingham, of Saybrook, is the candidate for governor. The convention denounced the know-nothings and the Main law.

Opening of the Panama Railroad.—The steamer George Law left New York yesterday at 2 o'clock P. M. for Aspinwall, taking out a delegation of stockholders and others to celebrate the opening of this road. The excursion party will not exceed twenty. They will remain on the Isthmus long enough to carefully survey the road and give a report upon its condition, when they will leave Panama in one of the Pacific Mail Steamship Co's vessels for a cruise among the neighboring Islands. On their return they will leave Aspinwall in the steamer El Dorado, stopping at Havana long enough to see the sights of the Cuban capital. The whole trip will occupy about four weeks.

Increased activity is observable in the agricultural bureau of the patent office. Sea reed and sea lymn grass seeds, so successfully employed Holland for reclaiming and protecting the sand drifts against the action of the wind and waves, will be speedily distributed, with a view of experimenting in similar positions along our own coast. Several descriptions of wheat are arriving from Mount Olympus and Algeria—and the distribution is now being made to members of Congress, agricultural societies, and individuals.

Mob feels Against Fusion.—The Hartford Times gives the number of commitments for drunkenness to the jail in that county, during the month of January, for six years past. They were as follows:

January 1850.	1851.	1852.	1853.	1854.	1855.
5	1	2	1	2	15

This looks as if there would be no use for jails under the Maine Law, and that such establishments would soon be shut up! The New Haven County Jail has never been so crowded with colonies as since the passage of this law, proving either a laxity in the officers before the new enactment or a great increase of crime since. People can draw their own conclusions.—New Haven (Ct) Register.

Aspirations of Prince Albert.—It is stated by a correspondent of the New York Herald, that Prince Albert is a good deal exercised by the Puseyite tendency of the English Established Church, and would like to make ecclesiastical appointments conform more to his own ideas of theology, which are tinged with German liberalism. The writer also says that much of the work of anonymity must necessarily be done by the Prince, and this being the case, he desires that his agency should have more the nature of responsibility—or, in other words, he would like to be King.

The Law Reviewer says that the subject of making Prince Albert King consort has recently been discussed, and is by no means disposed of.

Michigan General Banking Law.—The General Banking Bill, passed at the late session of the Michigan Legislature, will be submitted to the people at the next general election, which will be two years from last fall. Gov Bingham, in his message took strong ground against such a law, but it is thought the clause submitting it to the people may save it from an executive veto.—Toledo Commercial.

Trouble in the English Cabinet—Additional Particulars.—A private dispatch from London, dated Saturday, the day the Asia sailed, says that Lord John Russel resigned because Aberdeen refused to call Lord Raglan. Lord Palmerston agreed with Russell in regard to the recall of Raglan, and refuses to accept office, except the Queen consents that Lord Raglan be recalled, and the Queen persists in refusing to do so.

☞ In an editorial article of the Washington Union, it is stated that the total number of persons employed under the State, Treasury and Interior Department is 4,100, of whom 3,546 are Americans by birth, 439 foreigners, and 336 whose place of birth is not known. This proves that comparatively few foreigners are in office under the National Government.

Free Bank Notes.—We understand from the State Auditor that he is taking steps to close up and call in the notes of many of the suspended banks.

Not knowing what action the legislature might take and the delay occasioned by the examination of the committee has prevented him proceeding heretofore. But if the power now vested in him remains as it is, he will proceed to wind them up as fast as the interest of the bill holders will permit.—Indiana Republican.

What they Bring.—The New York Board of Emigration estimates that $20,000,000 in money has been brought into the country in the last year by German emigrants.

The Know Nothing Vanguard.—There are three papers in this State which are particularly down on the "scum of foreigners" of all kinds—the Albany State Register, Rochester American, and Buffalo Commercial Advertiser, and just strange to say, the leading men of those papers are of foreign extraction. Lacy, one of the proprietors of the Register, was born in England. Mann, of the Rochester American, was born in Scotland, and until he was fourteen years of age, peddled pitch ointment from Edinburgh. Fessenden, of the Buffalo Commercial—the man with the "twenty-five dollar character," was an English soldier and left the army one day under the escort of one drummer and two rope ends. These are the men who are now "bellowing around the Constitution," and who insist that foreign influence will yet undermine the liberties of the nation. Queer people, these Hunkers. That is so.—Albany Knickerbocker.

A Good Rule.—We notice that one of the Cincinnati Judges has made a rule in his court that in selecting jaies jurors, no person shall be called into the jury box, who shall solicit or intimate a wish to be put there. This will have a tendency to place good men on the jury, instead of many who get there who are not such. We should think it would be a good rule for all Judges to adopt.

☞ In the latest New York Citizen appears an editorial article from the pen of John Mitchell, in which the following advice is given the military companies composed of foreigners recently disbanded in Massachusetts:

"For every man-hat given in the State Armory, let three be purchased forthwith; let independent companies be formed, three as numerous as the disbanded corps—there are no Arms Acts here yet—and let every "foreigner" be drilled and trained, and have his arms always ready. For you may be very sure, (having some experience that matter) that those who begin by disarming you, mean to do you some mischief.

Be careful not to trouble in the smallest particular in American prejudices. Vield not a single jot of your own; for you have as good a right to your prejudices as they. Do not by any means, suffer Gardner's Bible (the Protestant Bible) to be trod down your throats. Do not abandon your past, or renounce your functions as citizens or as soldiers, but after resort to the last and highest tribunal of law open to you; keep the peace; endeavor no "demonstrations;" discourage drunkenness, and stand to your arms.

It is hardly to be conceived that the madness of faction and the insolence of race will proceed to such a length as to disarm independent companies, or private men. If they do, then the Constitution is at an end—the allegiance you have sworn to this Republic is annulled.

Would to God that thoughtful and just Americans would bethink themselves in time. They are strong; they far outnumber the foreign born; they are proud and flushed with national glory and prosperity; doubtless they can, if they will, do great and grievous wrong to a race that has never wronged them:—but seriously, earnestly we assure them that the naturalized citizens will not submit. This senseless fend must be reconciled: there must be peace, peace, or else a war of extermination. We are here, on American ground, either as citizens, or enemies."

Mitchel will, probably, next recommend the "foreigners" to prepare battles of patriot.—Cin. Com.

John Mitchell is a man of great genius and learning, and is, also, a very able writer, but all this is worthless to him and to everybody else, and often very injurious, because he has neither prudence, tact, nor common sense, in any degree. The above extracts will do the cause he professes a desire to aid, more harm than a thousand poems of sensible men can remedy. When Mitchell left the Citizen chair editorial, he said he should seek quietude for a year or two, but is more restless than ever.—Indiana Republican.

The Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Republican writes that the President is in possession of highly gratifying intelligence from Utah, which reports the Mormons as not only peaceably disposed, but quite satisfied with their new Governor.

At the recent accident on the Railroad near Connecut, a car containing a book of sleep and a man, fell down a bank fifty feet, hurting nothing but the car. The man jumped up, rubbed his eyes, and exclaimed "This is a sure way of doing business! By——I would not be so scared again for five dollars!"

Another Failure.—It is said that the Crystal Palace at Sydenham, near London, is likely to prove a failure in a financial point of view. Magnificent as are its attractions the number of visitors is limited. Through not yet finished it has cost some seven millions of dollars.

Toledo St. Louis, and Wabash Valley Railroad.

We mentioned that arrangements had been made for the vigorious prosecution of this work. The New York Tribune confirms the report, and gives the following particulars:—"The Toledo & Illinois and Lake Erie, Wabash & St. Louis Railroad Companies have just concluded a negotiation for one million of their Second Mortgage Bonds. The list of takers is very strong. The Road from Toledo to Huntington (120 miles) is to be pushed forward at once, and opened for travel in June next. The Companies, not liking to depend for the completing the Road to Lafayette (Indiana) upon the sale of Second Mortgage Bonds have reserved $922,000 of the First Mortgage to negotiate under a more favorable state of the market. The expenditure thus far has been $1,500,000, and for the total completion of the line (242 miles) the Companies are to expend at first and set in equity of the Second Mortgage Bonds, which will, it is believed, furnish ample means. During all the severity of the times the Treasurer has negotiated $2,400,000 of Bonds—none under 90 per cent, and accrued interest. We believe a loan of ten per cent in stock was all used on half a million of Bonds sold during the extreme pressure of August last.—This line completed, extending from Toledo (Ohio) through the most fertile of all valleys—the Wabash, connecting with the Great Western and Hannibal, and St Joseph's, and other prominent lines running West—must be considered one of the most important lines of the country, and has among its share and bondholders some of our strongest men. We congratulate our Western friends on the prospect of so early completion of this highly important route."

Louis Napoleon has just published a decree which goes into effect on the 1st of March next, exempting foreign emigrants passing through France from vexatious searches of their baggage, and establishing wise regulations in regard to emigrant vessels, for the better accommodation of passengers and the preservation of health on board emigrant ships. Gin is in such a naturally so dangerous are not allowed to be carried in ships which transport emigrant passengers. The provisions must all be of good quality and sufficient quantity and a doctor is required to attend the sick.

The ship has also to be visited by officers to examine into it sea worthiness, and see if the crew is sufficient for the passage. If the ship is delayed in port beyond the advertised day of sailing, the owners or contractors have to pay an indemnity to the passengers for their expenses, unless stormy weather is the cause of the delay. The regulations generally must be improved for their wisdom and humanity.

Origin of Know Nothingism.—Berkshiriite Massachusetts says that "Know nothingism developed itself during the administration of John Adams in the shape of laws under under which alien-born citizens were prevented and driven from the country. It was put down by the democracy with Mr. Jefferson at their head. Some years afterwards the monster again raised its head in the Hartford Convention, whose primary object was to plot treason against the country, and give aid and comfort to its enemies in the war in which it was then engaged. That notorious conclave of traitors, among other numerous resolves, adopted the following in regard to naturalized citizens:

"6th. Resolved, No person who shall hereafter be a naturalized citizen of the United States shall be eligible as a member of the Senate or House of Representatives of the United States, nor be capable of holding any civil office under the authority of the United States."

☞ Mr. Matt, who was, by the Know Nothing vote elected canal commissioner of Pennsylvania at the late election, has acted so unwisely and ungratefully in denouncing in bitter terms the body to whom he owes his election, that a movement is on foot in the Legislature of that State to oust him out of office. He richly deserves it.—Louisville Journal.

The Know Nothings of Pennsylvania voted for Col. Matt knowing his opinions of their order and its doctrines. He had been called upon by the Democratic State Central Committee to publicly that the position he occupied as to the order, and he stated in response his unequivocal opposition to it and its objects. The Know Nothings of Pennsylvania had no right to expect any favor from Col. Matt, and we are glad they receive none. The only voted for him to prevent the election of Mr. Dimmic, the Whig candidate, who had the misfortune to be born in one of the British Isles.

By the way, this thing abolishing offices to get rid of objectionable incumbents is getting to be quite the fashion. The House of Representatives of our own State have passed a bill to abolish the 12th Judicial Circuit to get rid of a Democratic Judge, and we have no doubt they would, if they could, abolish every other office held by a Democrat.—New Albany Ledger.

The New Grade in the Army.—The following is a copy of the joint resolution which passed the House of the Representatives on Monday, and which is at present exciting some attention:

A RESOLUTION authorizing the President of the United States to confer the title of lieutenant-general by brevet for eminent services.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the grade of lieutenant-general be, and the same is hereby, revived in the army of the United States, in order that when, in the opinion of the President and Senate, it shall be deemed proper to acknowledge eminent services of a major general of the army in the mode already provided for in subordinate grades, they grade of lieutenant-general may be specially conferred by brevet, and by brevet only, to take rank from the date of such service or services: Provided, however, That when the said grade of lieutenant-general by brevet shall have once been filled and have become vacant, this joint resolution shall thereafter expire and be of no effect."

The creation of the act of Congress which established the grade of lieutenant-general was passed on the 28th of May, 1798, and is as follows, (Fifth Congress, session 2, chapter 17, 1798):

"SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That when ever the President shall deem it expedient, he is hereby empowered to appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, a commander of the army which may be raised by virtue of this act, and who, being commissioned as lieutenant-general, may be authorized to command the armies of the United States, and shall be entitled to the following pay and emoluments—viz: $250 monthly pay, $50 monthly allowance for forage, when the the same shall not be provided by the United States, and forty rations per day, or money in lieu thereof at the current price—who shall have authority to appoint, from time to time, such number of aids, not exceeding four, and secretaries, not exceeding two, as he may judge proper, each to have the rank, pay, and emoluments of a lieutenant-colonel."

The Mexican war transpired in the year 1847, and the pay of an officer with the rank of lieutenant-general, as provided in the act of 1798, from that date to the present, would amount to more than fifty thousand dollars. It will be seen that there is attached to the grade of lieutenant-general a staff of six persons—four lieutenant-colonels, and two secretaries—each with the rank and pay of a lieutenant-colonel.—Washington Union.

BOSTON, Feb. 6.

A regular quarterly meeting of the K. N's was held to-day. The attendance has been large, but of the proceedings nothing is known. It is said there are symptoms of rebellion to the recent decree of the National Council proposing to expel members who bolt the regular nominations. There appears to be a split in the order on the free soil subject. Councils are being formed where free soilers are not admitted.

The Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Republican writes that the President is in possession of highly gratifying intelligence from Utah, which reports the Mormons as not only peaceably disposed, but quite satisfied with their new Governor.

Legislative Summary.

Wednesday, Feb. 14.—SENATE.—A bill for the suspension of the bill to adjust the Gibson Sandusky Township Claim, introduced by Mr. Clarkington, to reject the bill, on a protracted debate on the merits of the bill passed. The motion finally prevailed by a vote of 24 to 22. Bills passed to authorize the retransfer of the settlement of decedents' estates to the Court of Common pleas; joint resolution on the subject of bounty lands and pensions to prevent the alienation of certain officers, and prescribing penalties therefor.

Senate went into Committee of the Whole, and occupied the greater portion of the afternoon in the consideration of the House bill to regulate the fees of officers. After the adoption of various amendments, the Committee arose and was discharged from the further consideration of the subject. A bill fixing the time of holding Courts in the 9th Judicial Circuit, was read three times and passed.

HOUSE.—Reports. Various bills were reported back upon which no final action was had. A bill was reported to abolish Township Assessors, and to provide for the election of county assessor. A report was made declaring that the Court of Common Pleas had no jurisdiction to grant divorces; that it was incapacitated to confer such power upon them, and that no law could be passed legalizing divorces heretofore granted by such courts—the report was concurred in. A joint resolution was reported to amend the State Constitution.

1. Allowing no foreigner to vote unless naturalized under the laws of the United States, and a resident for six months in this State.

2. That militia officers having no annual salary, and deputy postmasters having a salary not exceeding ninety dollars, shall not be prohibited from holding another office.

3. To allow sessions of the Legislature to be held annually, and without limit as to time of holding them.

4. To amendments to existing laws, the act so revised or the section as amended, only to be set forth.

5. The words Sand of uniform operation through out the State" to be stricken out of the 23d section of article 4.

Bills introduced to authorize county treasurers to refund to tax payers the amount of special school tax paid by them, by giving a credit on their other school taxes; to amend the statute punishing burglary; to amend the 50th section of the act relative to the settlement of decedents' estates; to assess a tax on dogs for the benefit of those losing sheep by them; to encourage the breed of horses by taxing stallions five dollars, to authorize county recorders to demand their fees in advance, to protect persons in this State from arrest under the fugitive slave law, to establish a State Bank and branches.

Bill passed to provide for issuing new certificates of State Stock when casually destroyed.

Thursday, Feb. 15.—SENATE.—A report was made against the passage of the bill to fix the commencement of the terms of certain officers; also against the passage of the bill auctioneering to the net for a more uniform mode of doing township business, both of which were introduced. A resolution making the Bank question the special order for every afternoon until it is disposed of, was adopted.

A communication from the Auditor of State, in answers to a resolution of the Senate, stated that no bills had been issued by him since he came into office, and that the HOUSE.—Several petitions were presented, and several bills reported back by committees upon which no final action was had. The bill allowing landlord a lien in kind, was indefinitely postponed—ayes 43, noes 32. The bill relative to the State's interest in the Madison road was dismissed for some time—the House refusing to indefinitely postpone it, but laid it on the table for the present.

Bills passed.—To provide for the trial of cause when the Judge of the Circuit Court is interested or otherwise disqualified; to hold adjourned Courts, &c. To more effectually suppress lotteries. To authorize the commissioners of the Sinking Fund to adjust the claim of the Merchant's Bank in New York.

Two bills were reported for the government and discipline of the State Prison.

Bills Passed. The amount certain sections of the act for the more uniform mode of doing township business. To provide for the surrender of certificates of shares of this State. To provide for the custody of insane persons.

HOUSE.—Senate bill relative to railroads changing their depots, indefinitely postponed.

Bills Passed. To enable railroad companies to settle with mortgagees by by conveying them part of their roads. To authorize Assessors to correct errors in the assessment of real estate.—To reduce the width of the Michigan road. To authorize County Commissioners to sell land which the common school funds are invested. To prohibit adults from betting with minors. To cure defects in the acknowledgment of deeds, and in the omission of seals by private persons. To authorize railroads to create preferred stock.

Monday, Feb. 19.—SENATE.—Nothing of importance was done this morning. There not being a quorum present, the Senate adjourned after disposing of bills on their second reading.

The afternoon was consumed in the consideration of the substitute to the Free Bank Bill. An amendment to the section which provides that $116 in bonds she'd be deposited for every $100 of issue, was proposed, making the securities $125, which prompted a lengthy debate, pending which, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—The morning was chiefly occupied in reading Senate bills a second time.

Bills introduced or reported, relative to the town of Clarksville; to amend various sections and the repeal the 91st section of the act incorporating towns; relative to the rights of married women who have drunken husbands; to refund to free blacks the school taxes collected of them under the act of 1852; for the relief of the step children of J. B. Wood of Davis county.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.

The London correspondent of the Tribune says the losses of the Russians in the campaign of 1854 are now officially published. They amount, exclusive of the Cossacks and of the army in transCaucasia, to 111,132 men, of which 24,201 are reported as killed in Turkey and the Crimea. 16,156 died in hospitals, and 53,301 wounded; while 615 are put down as deserters, and 14 missing. Adding to these the two thousand prisoners of Bomarsund, and the killed and wounded at Kolch, we get the enormous total of 111,090 men sacrificed in one year.

CHARLESTON, Feb. 15.

The steamship Isabel arrived here this morning, having left Havana on the 10th. Great excitement prevailed in consequence of the discovery of a plot to assassinate the Captain General and his advisers. On the 8th inst. Don Ramon Pinto, an intimate friend of Gen. Concha, was arrested, and 300 other influential citizens. On the 9th inst 40 others were arrested. The dentent of Gen. Quitman with a large force was much feared. The U. S. steamer Princeton sailed from Key West for Pensacola on the 10th.

BUFFALO, Feb. 16.

Arrest of Wm. Kissane.—William Kissane, the Bank forger, &c., &c., was arrested at Williamsville, Erie county, in this State, yesterday. $8,500 were found on his person.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.

SENATE.—Mr. Seward, from the committee on Commerce, called up the bill regulating the carriage of passengers in steamships and other vessels, which was read twice and placed on its passage. Mr. Benjamin urged that the 3d reading of the bill be postponed, and he understood that its provisions conflicted with the bill of Mr. Seward's colleague, Mr. Fish.

Mr. Seward consented to the proposition of Mr. Benjamin, and the bill was laid over for the present.

Mr. Toucey introduced a bill to increase the salaries of Judges of Supreme Courts, which was referred.

Mr. Houston called the attention of the Senate to a pamphlet and laid it on the desk of Senators. He gave the author, Thomas A. Green, a severe lashing.

After some debate, the Pacific Railroad Bill obtained the preference, and will be considered to-morrow.

Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—A lengthy debate took place on Mr. Olds's amendment, appropriating $888,000 for transporting mails from New York to Liverpool and back; and repealing that part of the deficiency bill of 1850, which directs the Secretary of the Navy to give notice to terminate arrangement for an additional allowance to the Collins line. Without taking action on bill, committee arose, and House adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.

House went into Committee of the whole upon Mr. Olds's amendment to the Mail Steamer Appropriation bill, and it was agreed to. Ayes 86; nays not recorded.

The Committee then arose, and pending the question of the amendment, the House adjourned.

SENATE.—On motion of Mr. Jones, of Iowa, Senate proceeded to consider the vote whereby the bill for the relief of the claimants of the private armed brig Gen. Armstrong was laid on the table. He stated, that by agreement between the friends and opponents of the bill, $50,000 was to be appropriated to the Captain, officers and crew of the Armstrong, instead of the present appropriation, which is for the benefit of the owners of that vessel. The motion to reconsider was agreed to. Yeas 23, Nays 22. Bill afterwards laid on the table by a vote of 21 to 23.

Senate then proceeded to take up the private calender.

A veto message has been prepared by the President against the French Spoliation bill, which will probably be sent to the Senate to morrow.

The President has approved, and sent to the Senate, the bill creating Winfield Scott Lieutenant General of the U. S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.

HOUSE.—To day, a Message was received from the President, informing the House of his veto of the French Spoliation bill. It created some sensation.

Mr. Orr proposed that the Message be read and printed, and considered on Monday, at 1 o'clock. Mr. Bayley suggested Tuesday next. Mr. Stevens without meaning any disrespect to the President, insisted as time was precious, suggested that the reading be dispensed with. Boisterous cries followed of—"no! no!—read, read!"

Points of order were then raised.

Another amendment was then adopted, appropriating for the ocean service this year.

SENATE.—Mr. Shields presented the instructions he had received from the Legislature to oppose the extension of the patent to McCormick's, and all other reaping machines.

Mr. Jones of Iowa offered a resolution which says that the power to regulate emigration never having been delegated to Congress, the governments of those states affected by an influx of foreigners possess the sole power to make laws relating thereto.

The Pacific R. R. bill was taken up, but it was also postponed till Monday. The bill extending the credit in B. R. iron, was taken up.

Mr. Cooper urged that such a measure should be passed at this time, in this stage of the session. He showed the embarrassments under which the iron trade was suffering, and appealed to the Senate to defeat this bill which he thought would occasion a further depression in that business.

Mr. Broadhead, Hamlin, Clayton, Dawson and Bayard took part in the debate—the Senate adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.

HOUSE.—After some debate the question was stated, shall the French Spoliation bill pass, the President's objections to the contrary, notwithstanding; and under the previous question was decided in the negative, yeas 86 nays 113. The House then went into committee of the whole on the Civil Diplomatic bill. After some considerable discussion the House adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.

The secretary of the navy has appointed commanders, Engle and Gardiner to select Propellers to be sent on the expedition, in search of Dr. Kane.

A bill was passed, amendatory of the Gendenlan Law of last session, providing that affidavits of persons may be made before any properly authorized officer.

HARRISBURGH, Feb. 17.

The joint convention met to-day for the election of United States Senator, 130 present, necessary to a choice, 66. Cameron had 58, Buckham 28, J. P. James, 11; balance scattering. On the second ballot Cameron had 58. A motion to postpone the election two weeks prevailed, by a vote of 67 to 64.

Resolutions passed both Houses of the Legislature for appointing a Select Committee to investigate whether bribery and corruption had been used to effect the election of U. S. Senator. The vote was nearly unanimous in both Houses. Only one vote in the negative.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.

It was discovered yesterday, that 2 boxes of gold, some $40,000, shipped by the Northern Light and consigned to Page, Bacon & Co., had been robbed of the contents, probably on the Isthmus, and a quantity of iron substituted. The robbery was most adroitly committed.

The police made a descent yesterday upon an establishment in Broadway, known as Dashall & Co's National Gift enterprise office, and took possession of a large number of tickets and other property of the concern. The proprietor or agents were out of the way. It is said the parties interested have realized over $30,000. Dashall & Co. have an existence only in name, and the national gift enterprise is as airy as the firm.

Eighteen thousand five hundred dollars in specie certificates issued by the Bank of America to the associated banks of this city, were lost yesterday by a clerk of the Bank of Commonwealth, on his way from the Irving House to the bank.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19th.

Hanged Himself.—Geo W. Green, who was recently convicted of murdering his wife, hung himself in the jail this morning.

Important Vote in Congress.

The following resolution was offered in the House of Representative of the United States, by Hon. William Witte, of Pennsylvania, and on the motion to suspend the rules, so as to bring it to discussion and and a direct vote, the yeas and nays were called:

Whereas discussions have been indulged in this House, in Committee of the Whole, which, with other circumstances, lead to the conviction that there exists in this country an extensive secret oath-bound political association, which seems intended to interfere with the purity of elections, and the legislation of the country, such as association avoided the force and induced the solemn warnings of Washington in his Farewell Address; therefore,

Resolved, That, in the opinion of this House, the existence of secret oath-bound political associations, having in view an interference with the sanctity of the ballot box and the direction of the course of national legislation, is inconsistant with and dangerous to the institutions of republicanism, and directly hostile to the genius of the government.

Resolved, That every attempt to proscribe any class of citizens on account of their religious opinions, or to favor or to injure any religious denomination by national legislation, is a distinct violation of the spirit of the constitution of the United States.

Resolved, That while a careful and strict administration of the naturalization laws is a solemn duty, yet every interference with the guaranteed rights of naturalized citizens is inconsistent with the plighted faith of the nation, and must diminish its growth and prosperity.

The vote was as follows:

Democrats in the affirmative	90
Whigs in the affirmative	14
	104
Democrats in the negative	31
Whigs in the negative	47

not a two-thirds vote; so the House refused to consider the resolution. We have already given the yeas and nays.

It is just to say that nearly all the democrats who voted in the negative on this resolution did so on the ground that it might open a lengthy discussion, and delay important business to a late hour of the session. This was the position of the Hon. George S. Houston, the able chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means, who has labored so strenuously to bring the House to action on the pressing business now before it; and this, also, was the position of the chairmen of most of the leading committees in the House. As it was, however, the decided and controlling majority of the democratic party were found enrolled, we are glad to say, in favor of the principles avowed by the resolution, and fourteen whigs voted to swell the affirmative vote.

This is a question which must be squarely met. It cannot be evaded. However aspirants for office may dislike the test, the people will demand that every candidate shall show his hand. Such an issue as that present by the resolutions of Mr. Witte rises above temporary party issues. The idea of opposing the new conspiracy is based upon principles of enduring virtue and of daily necessity, and we unite the public man who, in the chase for temporary success and personal advantage, forfeits his obligation to his fellow-beings and to the truth by uniting with this know-nothing conspiracy. The democratic party has been another opportunity to show its firmness and its fidelity in adhering to great principles in the dark hour; and through mormanal by disaster and defeat, it will not surrender before a crusade which, however transiently successful, will sweep and in the overthrow of all who are concerned in it.—Washington Union.

FAMILY HEALTH RESTORATIVE.

Anti-Dyspeptic and Anti-Bilious Pills.

The pleasantness of operation and efficiency of these Pills must long render them a favorite family medicine. For weak and nervous females, who have an aversion to medicine, cathartic or alterative, they act admirably, not only purifying the blood by removing secretions from the liver, but after they have acted, they restore the tone of the stomach and create an appetite; thus imparting fresh vigor to the constitution. They have been used in our practice with the greatest success in all bilious derangements, and derangement of the Kidneys, Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, Female Difficulties, Weakness, &c., Plethora or Fullness of the Head, Dizziness, Sick and other Headaches, for which they are in the left side or back, peculiar to females, and in all cases where an aperient, or cathartic, or alterative are needed they are invaluable.

Every family requires more or less of medicine of this character; here, then, is one that can be relied upon, having been used in practice with great satisfaction for many years. It is compounded of valuable and safe ingredients, NO MERCURY, ENTIRELY VEGETABLE, and scientifically by experienced hands. Persons travelling should be provided with these Pills. Their action will not interfere with attention to business, and by being used occasionally as an alterative or blood cleanser, or aperient will ward off Bilious and other Fevers, and preserve health. Price, Twenty Cents per box.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY

By WM. K. EVERSON, M. D.

The Cause of Ague or Chills and Fever Destroy ed; The necessity for QUININE and ARSENIC entirely superseded.

EVERSON & CO'S

Chronn Thermal or American Remedy

For Ague or Chills and Fever.

THIS is no common patent medicine, but an important scientific discovery of immense importance and from present indications is destined soon to become the only reliable cure for Fever and Ague. Throughout our great Ague districts it is hailed as THE REMEDY, and is greeted with enthusiasm, no less for its invigorating influence upon the system generally, than the remarkable cures it produces. Seldom, indeed, has any medicine been received with such popular favor. It is perfectly safe and harmless even for infants. Not one person out of fifty will have a chill after the first dose during that season, if in the year, in the worst Ague districts. Do not trifle with your health by the use of Quinine, Arsenic, Calomel, or Cathartics or Emetics, but with THE AMERICAN REMEDY, the great antidote to the effects of miasm, attack and destroy the cause of the disease and the effects will cease to exist. No prepaible action like purging, vomiting or sweating takes place when this medicine is taken, but a sure and speedy restoration to health.

We almost daily in receipt of certificates and orders like the following. Please read them, and procure of our agents one of our CIRCULARS.

Andrew M. Lewell of Franklin, O., had Ague for one year; in the last two months shook every day, and Quinine proved; had tried physicians and patent nostrums in vain. One box of our American Remedy made a well man of him. Mr Squires, Mr Tibbits and son, and others of the same place, all cases of long standing, and by the permanent cure of their wives, some one year, some eighteen months since and no return, after trying everything else without avail.

Geo. Burns of Dayton Ohio, testifies that himself and four others, all cases of long standing, have been cured by the American Remedy, their cases having resisted all other treatment.

Under date of Sept. 31 Mr. J. C. Winston of Keyesville, Missouri, writes: "I dispensed of the four in a 4 Ague Remedy in less than three weeks after your agent left here, and want you to forward immediately 4 gross and some more Liniment and some Circulars. If your Ague Remedy meets with the favor I believe it does here, it will exceed in sale anything I know of.

PARIS, MO., Aug. 28, 1854.

Dear Sir.—Morse is probably no place in the States where Ague is more prevalent than here and hits harder. I have sold the half gross you sent me; pleasant no one gross this time. Never in my experience has any medicine met with such ready sale as the American Remedy. I have not heard of a single failure, but lots of cures.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. FONDY.

Beware of counterfeits—none are genuine without our signature upon the box.

About Medicine.

SEEING the world is full of new Medicines, if any person would introduce still another, in the midst of confusion, what is to be done? There is nothing to be done, if the medicine is good, that we know of, only to write an truth about it, in plain language, and let the article stand on its own merits, by speaking for itself through its cures. This is the purely natural Remedy obtained for on a Salt Well, 400 feet deep, in Pennsylvania.

KIER'S ROCK OIL,

We observe that as it cures various diseases, it will not do to class it among the humbugs,—although it is too much to say it will cure every lately every time it does cure. Many the multitudes who are using it, are disappointed. Used as it is, both EXTERNALLY and INTERNALLY, it stands the greater chance of reaching the seat of disease. There are various kinds of old Petroleum—odiferous to smell and taste. Many of the Limments of the day (and some we very good) are compounded in part with some kind of Rock Oil. Hence it stands to reason that if a Petroleum can be had which can be swallowed it must be good, and thus Kier's Oil, having this advantage, is the very essence and quintessence of medicine. It doctors the whole man, from head to foot—flesh and blood—skin and bones, and eradicates Disease and the cause of Disease—root and branch.

Justified in using this language, as the Proprietors are, from personal observation for the last two or three years, as well as from constantly accumulating testimony—Letters—Certificates—printed, and written, and verbal Statements,—we do not feel at liberty to hold back the result from the people—it would not be right.

IF YOU OBJECT

that it is said to cure too many diseases to be good.—We reply—We cannot tell how it is, but so it is—that it cures so many diseases—and it is no affair of ours—it is the good fortune of the sick. We suppose it is just as easy for NATURE to use a Remedy for the whole man as part of a man—she never leaves her work half done. Another thing—we do not have as many diseases as we think. Take for instance

SCROFULA—or KING'S EVIL, and all those Diseases having their origin in a depraved condition of the blood, and other fluids of the body,—this Oil will eradicate them with little cost. And yet there are perhaps a dozen different manifestations of Scrofula, in the same or in different persons—and some people call them different diseases, which will never do. It was the opinion of the late Dr. Rush, Philadelphia, that there existed in Nature an antidote to every malady to which man is liable.

Proclamation to the Invalids of Syracuse.

$1,000 REWARD!

PULVERMACHER'S

Hydro-Electric Voltaic Chains

ARE for the first time introduced to the people of Syracuse and vicinity, and the most convenient, effectual and strictly scientific mode of just only relieving and permanently curing all

NERVOUS DISEASES.

Now we know that no amount of credit in the above impels the eye of the reader almost doubly, and perhaps that may be classed with incredulity. But between you and myself, I may in confidence Pulvermacher's Electric Chain is the only magnetic remedial agent that is secured by patent granted by this government, on the ground that it was a unusually useful and remarkable article. The claims are now on exhibition at the Crystal Palace and attract much attention among the thousands who daily visit it.

MODE OF USE.

The manner of using the Chains is very simple. The chain is first moistened with common vinegar, and then one end of it is applied to the part where the pain is located, and the other end opposite to the part. The ends of the chain should never touch each other. At the moment of application the Galvanic current is set in motion, and, when properly applied, by the passing through of the part to a degree of moderate pain, which is proportionate to the intensity of the disease, or other remedy. In severe cases, or in cases of long standing, Nervous Headache, Palpitation of the Heart, General Debility, Dropsy, Female Diseases, Asthma, Contracted Joints, &c.

1,000 DOLLARS

will be given to any person who will produce an equally well authenticated testimonial of cure from intelligent patients and scientific physicians of the above diseases or has been successfully the use of the Electric Chain during the past year.

ANOTHER FACT.

The trade for Pulvermacher's Chains, or the Galvanic Chain has introduced a flood of imitations and counterfeits, and they are offered to the public, people having been disgusted with the practice of using these articles by deceptive shops.

CONCLUSIONS.

The Electric Chains are highly recommended by the Professors Mott, New Haven, Pond and Connecticut, of New York, and are in daily use in every Hospital in that city. The Chains will last for years, and always ready for use, and produce no injurious results, when used as directed.

FEMALE DISEASES.

The introduction of the Electric Chain in this country, at the date of its use, is an epoch in medicine. During the last twenty years, it is safely be estimated that ten thousand female have died prematurely from this disease.

FIRST PRINCIPLES.

It is self-evident to medical men that this common disease is beyond the reach of medicine, and that in proportion to the amount of medicine given, the more the patient is doomed to suffer, and cannot will that fact be denied.

During the last 2 years more than one thousand cases of Prolapsus Uteri (falling of the womb) have been permanently cured in England and France. Many of these cases were ladies of high standing, who had previously tried all other means at treatment with no benefit. Among the distinguished ladies that have been cured in France the parlour of France. In this country, during the last year, one hundred cases have been cured in the city of New York, many who have allowed their names to be published for the benefit of their suffering sisters. The mode of using the Chain is very simple, and can be used by any one, by simply applying one end of a 30 inch chain to the spine, and above the hips, and the other end upon the abdomen, and allow the electric current to circulate through. This is to be repeated four times during the twenty-four hours.

RHEUMATISM.

The Electric Chains never fail to relieve, by a complete and unexplained cure, the most severe cases of Rheumatism, and in most cases the disease. The most severe of this disease readily yield to a few applications of a chain, and in a single instance have they failed to give instant relief, if they did not effect a permanent cure. All persons who are victims of this cruel winter complaint, are kindly invited to call and obtain a pamphlet of Testimonials, signed by Syracuse, who will also explain their mode of use.

The electric chains can be sent by mail or express to any part of the United States, by addressing (post paid) any of the agents in the principal cities, or Joseph Stewart, 356 Broadway, New York.

CARD TO LADIES.

Ladies who are enceinte are requested not to wear them only for a few minutes at each application, for by long continued use are strongly impregnated.

CAN BE EFFECTUALLY CURED BY

DR. HOOFLAND'S

Celebrated German Bitters,

PREPARED BY

DR. C. M. JACKSON,

No. 120 Arch St., Philadelphia.

Their power over the above diseases is not excelled, if equalled, by any other preparation in the United States, as the cures attest, in many cases after skillful physicians had failed.

These Bitters are worthy the attention of invalids Possessing the virtues in the restoration of diseases of the Liver and lesser glands, exercising the most searching powers in weakness and affections of the digestive organs, they are without, safe, certain and pleasant.

READ AND BE CONVINCED.

"The Bitters mixture is, without doubt, the greatest medicine extant for diseases of the Liver and Bowels. A stubborn case of Chronic Diarrhœa has come under our notice, wherein the patient has exhausted the Materia Medicus of the different schools of practice, with no apparent benefit. He was induced to use these bitters, and a few bottles of them entirely cured him. Many such cases we could refer to. We hope our readers will recollect this great restorative, should they be so unfortunate as to require its use. Dr. Jackson possesses the original unpublished receipt of Dr. Hoofland, and he prepares the medicine with great care. Those purchasing should call at his store, or see that his name is written upon the wrapper outside, and blown in the bottles, for imitations of all good articles are common.—Philadelphia Democrat (German).

He says it is the most extraordinary medicine he has ever seen.

AGUE AND FEVER—GREATNESS.—I hereby certify that for three years I had been troubled with the most violent ague and fever, which I attributed to the miasmatic effluvia of Dunmore, Mercury, and I believe all the Tonics administered, but all without any permanent relief. At last I tried Carter's Spanish Mixture, and it effected a permanent cure. I feel no hesitation in recommending it to the public, and I am happy to say I have had neither Chills nor Fevers since. I consider it the best Tonic in the world and the only medicine that ever relieved me in my case. JOHN LONG.

He says it cures all Constitution, dependent on the liver, the good effects were wonderfully marked.

SAMUEL A. BRISKER, of the firm of Brisker & Morgan, Richmond, was cured of Liver Complaint of a very stubborn character, by the use of two bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture.

GEORGE W. PRICE, of Richmond, Editor of the Richmond Republican, had a second complaint of a very stubborn character, which resisted all the usual remedies, combined with Rheumatism which entirely disabled him from work. Two bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture made a perfect cure of both, and the Editor, in a public notice, says they have finally recommend to all who are afflicted with any disease of a kind.

STILL ANOTHER CURE OF SCROFULA.—I had a very valuable boy cured of Scrofula by Carter's Spanish Mixture. I consider it truly a valuable medicine. JAMES M. TAYLOR, Gunsmith on the E. P. & P. R. R. Co., Richmond, Va.

SALT RHEUM OF YEARS STANDING CURED.—Mr. JOHN THOMPSON, Rolling mill, Richmond, Va., was cured by three bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture, of Salt Rheum, which he had nearly 10 years, and which all the physicians of the city could not cure. Mr. Thompson is well known in the iron trade throughout the city of Richmond, Va., and his cure is most remarkable.

WM. A. MATTHEWS, of Richmond, has a servant cured of Fever Sores of 20 years standing, by Carter's Spanish Mixture. He says he cheerfully recommends it, and considers it an invaluable medicine.

FEMALE PURITY.—Mrs. ——, of Richmond, was cured of Scrofula, and other Physicians called in pronounced Consumption, by three bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture.

MEDICATED HAHANTION

A New Method.

A MOST WONDERFUL DISCOVERY has recently been made by Dr. CURTIS, for the cure of Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and all Lung Complaints, by Medicated Inhalation. Dr. CURTISS HYGRANA, or INHALING HYGEAN VAPOR and CHERRY SYRUP, has accomplished the most wonderful cures of Asthma and Consumption in the city of New York and vicinity for a few months past, ever known to man. It is producing an impression on Disease of the Lungs never before witnessed by the Medical Profession. (See certificates in hands of Agents.)

The inhalers worn on the breast, under the linen, without the least inconvenience, the heat of the body being sufficient to evaporate the fluid, supplying the lungs constantly with a healing and agreeable vapor, passing into all the air cells and passages of the lungs that cannot possibly be reached by other medicines.

Here is a case:

ASTHMA CURED.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Dec 20th, 1853.

For about eight years I have been severely afflicted with the Asthma; for the last 3 years suffered beyond all my powers of description; more at a time I have had been able to sleep in bed, getting what rest I could sitting in my chair. My difficulty of breathing and my coughing were so great at times, that lungs together my friends expected each breath would be my last. During the past six years I have had the attendance of some of the most celebrated physicians, but have received no permanent benefit, and but little relief. I at length had the good fortune to procure Dr. Curtis' Hygean or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup. At the time I first commenced, I was suffering under one of my most violent attacks, and was in great distress, almost suffocating for want of breath. In less than one minute, from the time I applied the inhaler to my nostrils, my mind was in a composed state. The Cherry Syrup was relied on to a great measure from the difficulty of breathing, and had a comfortable night. I have since continued it with the greatest possible benefit, and am now comparatively well. I cut only known the effects of half ring that medicine has relieved me from. My advice to the sufferers is, try it.

MARGARET EASTON.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

New York Dec 20th, 1853

I came to New York in the Ship Telegraph; my arrival place is St John's, New Brunswick; when I reached this city, my health was very poor, had a very bad cough, raised a good deal of matter, which was frequently tinged with blood; had pain in my left side, and was very much emaciated. My friends and physicians pronounced my case Consumption, and beyond the reach of medicine. I accidentally heard of Dr. Curtis' Hygean, or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup, and obtained a package, which I verily believe saved my life, by saving my life. Soon after wearing the Inhaler, I found it relieved the pressure on my lungs, and after a while the disease made its appearance upon the surface under the Inhaler. I the Cherry Syrup as directed, and continued to do so,
